

History of Modern Art

H. H. Arnason Elizabeth C. Mansfield

Seventh Edition

Contents

- Preface xii
Acknowledgments xiii
Why Use this Seventh Edition xiv
Chapter-by-chapter Revisions xiv

1 The Origins of Modern Art 1

- SOURCE: Théophile Gautier, Preface to Mademoiselle de Maupin (1835) 2
Making Art and Artists: The Role of the Critic 2
A Marketplace for Art 3
CONTEXT: Modernity and Modernism 3
The Modern Artist 3
What Does It Mean to Be an Artist?: From Academic Emulation toward Romantic Originality 4
Making Sense of a Turbulent World: The Legacy of Neoclassicism and Romanticism 5
History Painting 6
TECHNIQUE: Printmaking Techniques 6
Landscape Painting 9

2 The Search for Truth: Early Photography, Realism, and Impressionism 14

- New Ways of Seeing: Photography and its Influence 14
TECHNIQUE: Daguerreotype versus Calotype 15
Only the Truth: Realism 20
France 20
England 22
Seizing the Moment: Impressionism and the Avant-Garde 24
Manet and Whistler 24
From Realism to Impressionism 28
Nineteenth-Century Art in the United States 36
SOURCE: Charles Baudelaire, from his “Salon of 1859” 36
Later Nineteenth-Century American Art 37

3 Post-Impressionism 42

- The Poetic Science of Color: Seurat and the Neo-Impressionists 43
Form and Nature: Paul Cézanne 45
Early Career and Relation to Impressionism 46
Later Career 48
The Triumph of Imagination: Symbolism 50
Reverie and Representation: Moreau, Puvis, and Redon 50
The Naive Art of Henri Rousseau 52
An Art Reborn: Rodin and Sculpture at the Fin de Siècle 53
Early Career and The Gates of Hell 54
The Burghers of Calais and Later Career 56
Exploring New Possibilities: Claudel and Rosso 58
Primitivism and the Avant-Garde: Gauguin and Van Gogh 59
Gauguin 59
SOURCE: Paul Gauguin, from Noa Noa (1893) 61
Van Gogh 62
SOURCE: Vincent van Gogh, from a letter to his brother Theo van Gogh, August 6, 1888 62
A New Generation of Prophets: The Nabis 64
Vuillard and Bonnard 65
Montmartre: At Home with the Avant-Garde 67

4 Arts and Crafts, Art Nouveau, and the Beginnings of Expressionism 70

- “A Return to Simplicity”: The Arts and Crafts Movement and Experimental Architecture 70
Experiments in Synthesis: Modernism beside the Hearth 72
SOURCE: Walter Pater, from the Conclusion to Studies in the History of the Renaissance (1873) 74
With Beauty at the Reins of Industry: Aestheticism and Art Nouveau 74
Natural Forms for the Machine Age: The Art Nouveau Aesthetic 76
Painting and Graphic Art 76
SOURCE: Sigmund Freud, from The Interpretation of Dreams (1899) 78
Art Nouveau Architecture and Design 79

Toward Expressionism: Late Nineteenth-Century
Avant-Garde Painting beyond France 84
Scandinavia 84
Northern and Central Europe 87

5 The New Century: Experiments in Color and Form 90

Fauvism 90
“Purity of Means” in Practice: Henri Matisse’s
Early Career 91
Earliest Works 91
Matisse’s Fauve Period 92
SOURCE: Charles Baudelaire, Invitation to the Voyage
(1857) 93
The Influence of African Art 97
“Wild Beasts” Tamed: Derain, Vlaminck, and Dufy 99
Religious Art for a Modern Age: Georges Rouault 101
The Belle Époque on Film: The Lumière Brothers and Lartigue 102
CONTEXT: Early Motion Pictures 102
Modernism on a Grand Scale: Matisse’s Art
after Fauvism 103
Forms of the Essential: Constantin Brancusi 106

6 Expressionism in Germany and Austria 111

From Romanticism to Expressionism: Corinth and Modersohn-Becker 112
SOURCE: Paula Modersohn-Becker, Letters and Journal 113
Spanning the Divide between Romanticism and Expressionism: Die Brücke 114
Kirchner 114
TECHNIQUE: Woodcuts and Woodblock Prints 117
Nolde 117
Heckel, Müller, Pechstein, and Schmidt-Rottluff 118
Die Brücke’s Collapse 121
The Spiritual Dimension: Der Blaue Reiter 121
Kandinsky 122
Münter 124
Werefkin 125
Marc 126
Macke 127
Jawlensky 128
Klee 128
Feininger 129
Expressionist Sculpture 130
Self-Examination: Expressionism in Austria 132
Schiele 132
Kokoschka 133
CONTEXT: The German Empire 134

7 Cubism 136

Immersed in Tradition: Picasso’s Early Career 137
Barcelona and Madrid 137
Blue and Rose Periods 137
CONTEXT: Women as Patrons of the Avant-Garde 140
Les Femmes d’Alger 142
Beyond Fauvism: Braque’s Early Career 144
“Two Mountain Climbers Roped Together”: Braque,
Picasso, and the Development of Cubism 146
Analytic Cubism, 1909–11 147
Synthetic Cubism, 1912–14 152
TECHNIQUE: Collage 152
Constructed Spaces: Cubist Sculpture 155
Braque and Picasso 155
Archipenko 157
Duchamp-Villon 158
Lipchitz 158
Laurens 159
An Adaptable Idiom: Developments in Cubist Painting in Paris 160
Gris 160
Gleizes and Metzinger 162
Léger 163
Other Agendas: Orphism and Other Experimental Art in Paris, 1910–14 163
Duchamp 166

8 Early Modern Architecture 169

“Form Follows Function”: The Chicago School and the Origins of the Skyscraper 169
SOURCE: Louis Sullivan, “The Tall Office Building
Artistically Considered” (1896) 172
Modernism in Harmony with Nature: Frank Lloyd
Wright 172
Early Houses 173
The Larkin Building 175
Mid-Career Crisis 176
Temples for the Modern City: American Classicism
1900–15 176
New Simplicity Versus Art Nouveau: Vienna Before World
War I 177
Tradition and Innovation: The German Contribution to Modern Architecture 179
Behrens and Industrial Design 180
CONTEXT: The Human Machine: Modern
Workspaces 180
Expressionism in Architecture 181
Toward the International Style: The Netherlands and Belgium 183
Berlage and Van de Velde 183
TECHNIQUE: Modern Materials 184
New Materials, New Visions: France in the Early Twentieth Century 184

9

European Art after Cubism 186

- Fantasy Through Abstraction: Chagall and the Metaphysical School 186
- Chagall 187
- De Chirico and the Metaphysical School 188
- “Running on Shrapnel”: Futurism in Italy 189
 - SOURCE: Filippo Tommaso Marinetti, from The Founding and Manifesto of Futurism 189
- Balla 191
- Bragaglia 192
- Severini 192
- Carrà 194
- Boccioni 194
- Sant’Elia 196
- “Our Vortex is Not Afraid”: Wyndham Lewis and Vorticism 197
 - CONTEXT: The Omega Workshops 197
- A World Ready for Change: The Avant-Garde in Russia 198
 - Larionov, Goncharova, and Rayonism 199
 - Popova and Cubo-Futurism 200
 - Malevich and Suprematism 202
 - El Lissitzky’s Prouns 204
 - TECHNIQUE: Axonometry 204
 - Kandinsky in the Early Soviet Period 205
- Utopian Visions: Russian Constructivism 207
 - Innovations in Sculpture 207
 - Tatlin 207
 - Rodchenko 209
 - Stepanova and Rozanova 210
 - Pevsner, Gabo, and the Spread of Constructivism 211

10

Picturing the Wasteland: Western Europe during World War I 213

- CONTEXT: The Art of Facial Prosthetics 213
- The World Turned Upside Down: The Birth of Dada 214
 - The Cabaret Voltaire and Its Legacy 214
 - Arp 216
- “Her Plumbing and Her Bridges”: Dada Comes to America 218
 - Duchamp’s Early Career 219
 - SOURCE: Anonymous (Marcel Duchamp), “The Richard Mutt Case” 221
 - Duchamp’s Later Career 222
 - Picabia 225
 - Man Ray and the American Avant-Garde 226
- “Art is Dead”: Dada in Germany 227
 - Hausmann, Höch, and Heartfield 228
 - Schwitters 230
 - Ernst 231
- Idealism and Disgust: The “New Objectivity” in Germany 233
 - Grosz 235
 - Dix 236
 - The Photography of Sander and Renger-Patzsch 238
 - Beckmann 238
 - CONTEXT: Degenerate Art 240

11

Art in France after World War I 242

- Eloquent Figuration: Les Maudits 242
 - Modigliani 242
 - Soutine 243
 - Utrillo 245
- Dedication to Color: Matisse’s Later Career 246
 - Response to Cubism, 1914–16 246
 - Renewal of Coloristic Idiom, 1917–c. 1930 247
 - An Art of Essentials, c. 1930–54 249
 - CONTEXT: Matisse in Merion, Pennsylvania 250
- Celebrating the Good Life: Dufy’s Later Career 250
- Eclectic Mastery: Picasso’s Career after the War 250
 - Parade* and Theatrical Themes 252
 - CONTEXT: Diaghilev’s Ballets Russes 253
 - Postwar Classicism 254
 - Cubism Continued 255
 - Guernica* and Related Works 257
- Sensuous Analysis: Braque’s Later Career 258
- Austerity and Elegance: Léger, Le Corbusier, and Ozenfant 259

12

Clarity, Certainty, and Order: De Stijl and the Pursuit of Geometric Abstraction 262

- The de Stijl Idea 262
 - SOURCE: De Stijl “Manifesto 1” (1918, published in de Stijl in 1922) 262
- Mondrian: Seeking the Spiritual Through the Rational 263
 - Early Work 263
 - Neoplasticism 264
 - The Break with de Stijl 266
- Van Doesburg, de Stijl, and Elementarism 268
- De Stijl Realized: Sculpture and Architecture 270
 - Vantongerloo 271
 - Van ’t Hoff and Oud 271
 - Rietveld 272
 - Van Eesteren 274

13

Bauhaus and the Teaching of Modernism 275

- Audacious Lightness: The Architecture of Gropius 275
- The Building as Entity: The Bauhaus 277
 - SOURCE: Walter Gropius, from the Bauhaus Manifesto (1919) 277
- Bauhaus Dessau 278
- The Vorkurs: Basis of the Bauhaus Curriculum 279
 - Moholy-Nagy 279
 - Josef Albers 281
 - Klee 282
 - Kandinsky 285
- Die Werkmeister*: Craft Masters at the Bauhaus 286
 - Schlemmer 287
 - Stölzl 287

Breuer and Bayer 288
TECHNIQUE: Industry into Art into Industry 289
“The Core from which Everything Emanates”:
International Constructivism and the Bauhaus 289
Gabo 289
Pevsner 291
Baumeister 292
From Bauhaus Dessau to Bauhaus U.S.A. 292
Mies van der Rohe 292
Bauhaus U.S.A. 295

14 Surrealism 297

Breton and the Background to Surrealism 297
CONTEXT: Fetishism 298
The Two Strands of Surrealism 299
Political Context and Membership 299 CONTEXT: Trotsky and International Socialism Between the Wars 300
“Art is a Fruit”: Arp’s Later Career 300
Hybrid Menageries: Ernst’s Surrealist Techniques 302
“Night, Music, and Stars”: Miró and Organic–Abstract
Surrealism 304
Methodical Anarchy: André Masson 307
Enigmatic Landscapes: Tanguy and Dalí 308
Dalí 309
SOURCE: Georges Bataille, from The Cruel Practice of Art
(1949) 309
Surrealism beyond France and Spain: Magritte, Delvaux,
Bellmer, Matta, and Lam 313
Matta and Lam 317
Women and Surrealism: Oppenheim, Cahun, Maar,
Tanning, and Carrington 318
Never Quite “One of Ours”: Picasso and Surrealism 322
Painting and Graphic Art, mid-1920s to 1930s 322
Sculpture, late 1920s to 1940s 324
Pioneer of a New Iron Age: Julio González 325
Surrealism’s Sculptural Language: Giacometti’s
Early Career 326
Surrealist Sculpture in Britain: Moore 330
Bizarre Juxtapositions: Photography and Surrealism 331
Atget’s Paris 332
Man Ray, Kertész, Tabard, and the Manipulated
Image 332
The Development of Photojournalism: Brassai, Bravo,
Model, and Cartier-Bresson 334
An English Perspective: Brandt 337

15 American Art Before World War II 338

American Artist as Cosmopolitan: Romaine Brooks 338
The Truth about America: The Eight and Social Criticism 339
Sloan, Prendergast, and Bellows 339
SOURCE: Robert Henri, excerpts from The Art Spirit, a collection of his writings and notes 341
Two Photographers: Riis and Hine 341

A Rallying Place for Modernism: 291 Gallery and the Stieglitz Circle 342
Stieglitz and Steichen 343
Weber, Hartley, Marin, and Dove 345
O’Keeffe 347
Straight Photography: Strand, Cunningham, and Adams 349
Coming to America: The Armory Show 350
Sharpening the Focus on Color and Form: Synchronism and Precisionism 351
Synchronism 351
Precisionism 352
The Harlem Renaissance 354
Painting the American Scene: Regionalists and Social Realists 355
Benton, Wood, and Hopper 356
CONTEXT: American Primitives 356
Bishop, Shahn, and Blume 360
CONTEXT: The Sacco and Vanzetti Trial 361 Documents of an Era: American Photographers Between the Wars 361
Social Protest and Personal Pain: Mexican Artists 364
Rivera 364
Orozco 365
Siqueiros 366
Kahlo 367
Tamayo 367
Modotti’s Photography in Mexico 368
The Avant-Garde Advances: Toward American
Abstract Art 368
Exhibitions and Contact with Europe 368
Davis 369
Diller and Pereira 370
Avery and Tack 371
Sculpture in America Between the Wars 372
Lachaise and Nadelman 372
Roszak 373
Calder 374

16 Abstract Expressionism and the New American Sculpture 377

Mondrian in New York: The Tempo of the Metropolis 377
CONTEXT: Artists and Cultural Activism 379
Entering a New Arena: Modes of Abstract
Expressionism 379
The Picture as Event: Experiments in Gestural Painting 380
Hofmann 380
SOURCE: Clement Greenberg, from Modernist Painting
(first published in 1960) 380
Gorky 380
Willem de Kooning 382
Pollock 384
SOURCE: Harold Rosenberg, from *The American Action
Painters* (first published in 1952) 386
Krasner 387
Kline 388
Tomlin and Tobey 389
Guston 390
Elaine de Kooning and Grace Hartigan 391

Complex Simplicities: Color Field Painting 392

Rothko 392

Newman 395

Still 396

Reinhardt 396

Gottlieb 397

Motherwell 398

Baziotes 400

Drawing in Steel: Constructed Sculpture 401

Smith and Dehner 401

Di Suvero and Chamberlain 404

Textures of the Surreal: Biomorph Sculpture and

Assemblage 404

Noguchi 404

Bourgeois 405

Cornell 406

Nevelson 407

Expressive Vision: Developments in American

Photography 408

Capa and Miller 408

White, Siskind, and Porter 408

Levitt and DeCarava 409

17

Postwar European Art 411

CONTEXT: Samuel Beckett and the Theater of the Absurd 411

Re-evaluations and Violations: Figurative Art in France 412

Picasso 412

Giacometti 412

Richier 414

Balthus 415

Dubuffet 416

A Different Art: Abstraction in France 418

Fautrier, Van Velde, Hartung, and Soulages 418

Wols, Mathieu, Riopelle, and Vieira da Silva 420

De Staël 422

“Pure Creation”: Concrete Art 423

Bill and Lohse 423

Postwar Juxtapositions: Figuration and Abstraction in Italy and Spain 425

Morandi 425

Marini and Manzù 426

Afro 427

Fontana 428

SOURCE: Lucio Fontana, from The White Manifesto (1946) 429

Burri 430

Tàpies 430

“Forget It and Start Again”: The CoBrA Artists and Hundertwasser 431

Jorn 431

Appel 431

Alechinsky 432

Hundertwasser 433

The Postwar Body: British Sculpture and Painting 433

Hepworth 434

Moore 435

Bacon 435

Sutherland 439

Freud 440

Marvels of Daily Life: European Photographers 442

Sudek 442

Bischof 443

Doisneau 443

18

Nouveau Réalisme and Fluxus 444

CONTEXT: The Marshall Plan and the “Marilyn Monroe Doctrine” 444

SOURCE: Manifesto of Nouveau Réalisme, signed October 27, 1960 445

“Sensibility in Material Form”: Klein 445

Tinguely and Saint-Phalle 447

Arman 449

César 449

Raysse 450

Christo and Jeanne-Claude 450

Rotella and Manzoni 451

Fluxus 452

CONTEXT: The Situationists 453

Ono and Beuys 454

19

Taking Chances with Popular Culture 456

“This is Tomorrow”: Pop Art in Britain 456

Hamilton and Paolozzi 457

SOURCE: Marshall McLuhan, from Understanding Media: The Extensions of Man (1964) 457

Blake and Kitaj 458

Hockney 459

Signs of the Times: Assemblage and Pop Art in the United States 460

Rauschenberg 460

Johns 462

TECHNIQUE: Encaustic 464

Getting Closer to Life: Happenings and Environments 466

Kaprow, Grooms, and Early Happenings 466

Segal 468

Oldenburg 469

“Just Look at the Surface”: The Imagery of

Everyday Life 471

Dine 471

Samaras and Artschwager 472

Rivers 474

Lichtenstein 475

Warhol 476

Rosenquist, Indiana, and Wesselmann 478

TECHNIQUE: Screenprinting 479

Axéll, Marisol, and Sister Corita 481

Poetics of the “New Gomorrah”: West Coast Artists 483

Thiebaud 483

Kienholz 483

Jess 484

Ruscha 485

Jiménez 486

Personal Documentaries: The Snapshot Aesthetic in American Photography 487

20

Playing by the Rules: 1960s Abstraction 490

- Drawing the Veil: Post Painterly Abstraction 490
SOURCE: Clement Greenberg, from Post Painterly Abstraction (1964) 491
Francis and Mitchell 491
Frankenthaler, Louis, and Olitski 493
Poons 496
- At an Oblique Angle: Diebenkorn 497
- Forming the Unit: Hard-Edge Painting 498
- Seeing Things: Op Art 503
Vasarely 503
Riley 504
- New Media Mobilized: Motion and Light 505
Mobiles and Kinetic Art 507
Artists Working with Light 508
- The Limits of Modernism: Minimalism 510
Caro 511
Stella 512
Smith, Judd, and Morris 514
SOURCE: Tony Smith, from a 1966 interview in Artforum 514
LeWitt, Andre, and Serra 518
TECHNIQUE: Minimalist Materials: Cor-Ten Steel 520
Minimalist Painters 521
- Complex Unities: Photography and Minimalism 526

21

Modernism in Architecture at Mid-Century 527

- “The Quiet Unbroken Wave”: The Later Work of Wright and Le Corbusier 527
Wright During the 1930s 528
Le Corbusier 531
- Purity and Proportion: The International Style
in America 535
The Influence of Gropius and Mies van der Rohe 535
Skyscrapers 537
Domestic Architecture 540
- Internationalism Contextualized: Developments in Europe,
Latin America, Asia, and Australia 541
Finland 541
Great Britain 543
France 543
Germany and Italy 544
Latin America, Australia, and Japan 546
- Breaking the Mold: Experimental Housing 549
CONTEXT: Women in Architecture 550
- Arenas for Innovation: Major Public Projects 552
Cultural Centers, Theaters, and Museums
in America 552
Urban Planning and Airports 556
Architecture and Engineering 557
TECHNIQUE: The Dymaxion House 557

22

Conceptual and Activist Art 558

- Art as Language 558
Art & Language, Kosuth 559
CONTEXT: Semiotics 559
Weiner, Huebler, and Barry 560
Keeping Time: Baldessari, Kawara, and Darboven 560
- Conceptual Art as Cultural Critique 562
Broodthaers, Buren, and Sanjouand 562
Haacke and Asher 565
Lawler and Wilson 566
- The Medium Is the Message: Early Video Art 567
Paik 567
Nauman 568
Campus’s Video Art 568
- When Art Becomes Artist: Body Art 569
Abromovic and Ulay 569
Schneemann and Wilke 570
Mendieta 571
Acconci 572
Burden 572
Gilbert and George, Anderson, and Horn 574
- Radical Alternatives: Feminist Art 575
The Feminist Art Program 575
- Erasing the Boundaries between Art and Life: Later
Feminist Art 578
Kelly 578
Guerrilla Girls 579
Antoni and Fleury 579
- Invisible to Visible: Art and Racial Politics 581
OBAC, Afri-COBRA, and SPARC 581
Ringgold and Folk Traditions 583
Social and Political Critique: Hammons and Colescott 584
The Concept of Race: Piper 586

23

Post-Minimalism, Earth Art, and New Imagists 587

- Metaphors for Life: Process Art 588
Arte Povera: Merz and Kounellis 595
- Big Outdoors: Earthworks and Land Art 596
Monumental Works 597
CONTEXT: Environmentalism 597
SOURCE: Robert Smithson, from “Cultural Confinement,” originally published in Artforum (1972) 599
Landscape as Experience 601
- Public Statements: Monuments and Large-Scale Sculpture 606
- Body of Evidence: Figurative Art 610
Photorealism 610
Hanson’s Superrealist Sculpture 614
Stylized Naturalism 614
- Animated Surfaces: Pattern and Decoration 618
- Figure and Ambiguity: New Image Art 621
Rothenberg and Moskowitz 621
Sultan and Jenney 622
Borofsky and Bartlett 624
Chicago Imagists: Nutt and Paschke 625
Steir 626
New Image Sculptors: Shapiro and Flanagan 627

24

Postmodernism 629

- CONTEXT: Poststructuralism 629
Postmodernism in Architecture 630
“Complexity and Contradiction”: The Reaction Against Modernism Sets In 631
SOURCE: Robert Venturi, Denise Scott Brown, and Steven Izenour, from Learning from Las Vegas (1972) 632
In Praise of “Messy Vitality”: Postmodernist Eclecticism 632
Venturi, Rauch, Scott Brown, and Moore 632
Piano, Rogers, and a Postmodern Museum 636
Hollein, Stern, and Isozaki 636
Ironic Grandeur: Postmodern Architecture and History 640
Johnson 640
Stirling, Jahn, Armajani, and Foster 641
Pei and Freed 643
Ando and Pelli 646
What Is a Building?: Constructivist and Deconstructivist Architecture 647
CONTEXT: Deconstruction versus Deconstructivism 648
Structure as Metaphor: Architectural Allegories 651
Flexible Spaces: Architecture and Urbanism 654
Plater-Zyberk and Duany 655
Koolhaas and the OMA 656
Postmodern Practices: Breaking Art History 658
Appropriation: Kruger, Levine, Prince, and Sherman 658
Holzer, McCollum, and Tansey 663

25

Painting through History 666

- Primal Passions: Neo-Expressionism 666
German Neo-Expressionism: Baselitz, Lüpertz, Penck, and Immendorff 667
Polke, Richter, and Kiefer 670
SOURCE: Gerhard Richter, from “Notes 1964–1965” 672
Italian Neo-Expressionism: Clemente, Chia, and Cucchi 675
TECHNIQUE: Choosing Media 676
American Neo-Expressionism: Schnabel, Salle, and Fischl 676
Searing Statements: Painting as Social Conscience 680
Golub and Spero 680
Coe and Applebroog 682
In the Empire of Signs: Neo-Geo 683
Neo-Geo Abstraction: Halley and Bleckner 683
The Sum of Many Parts: Abstraction in the 1980s 684
Murray 685
Winters 685
Taaffe 686
Scully 686
Taking Art to the Streets: Graffiti and Cartoon Artists 687
Haring and Basquiat 687
CONTEXT: HIV/AIDS and the Art World 689
Wojnarowicz and Wong 690
Rollins and KOS 691
Painting Art History 692
Currin and Yuskavage 692

26

New Perspectives on Art and Audience 695

- Commodity Art 695
CONTEXT: National Endowment for the Arts 696
CONTEXT: International Art Exhibitions 697
Postmodern Arenas: Installation Art 701
CoLab, Ahearn, and Osorio 701
Kabakov 702
Viola 704
Strangely Familiar: British and American Sculpture 704
Reprise and Reinterpretation: Art History as Art 710
Representing Art History 710
The Anxiety of Artistic Influence 711
Cutting Art History Down to Size 713
DIY in the Artist's Studio 714
SOURCE: Jorge Luis Borges, On Exactitude in Science (1946, originally published as a mock literary discovery) 717
Reorienting Art History's Centers and Peripheries 717
New Perspectives on Childhood and Identity 719
The Art of Biography 722
Meeting Points: New Approaches to Abstraction 726

27

Contemporary Art and Globalization 729

- CONTEXT: Modern Art Exhibitions and Postcolonialism 729
Lines That Define Us: Locating and Crossing Borders 730
Art and the Expression of Culture 730
Identity as Place 735
Skin Deep: Identity and the Body 742
Body as Self 742
The Sensual Body 742
The Absent Body 746
Occupying the Art World 750
Globalization and Arts Institutions 754
Interventions in the Global Museum 754
CONTEXT: Avant-tainment 756
Designing a Global Museum 757
CONTEXT: Pritzker Prize 759

Glossary 761
Bibliography 763
Index 790
Credits 809

Proven. Engaging. Trusted.

For over 10 years, instructors and students have reported achieving better results and better grades when a Pearson MyLab™ has been integrated into the course. MySearchLab provides engaging experiences that personalize learning, and comes from a trusted partner with educational expertise and a deep commitment to helping students and instructors achieve their goals.

eTEXT

Just like the printed text, you can highlight and add notes to the eText online or download it to your iPad.

ASSESSMENT

Chapter quizzes and flashcards offer immediate feedback and report directly to your grade book.

WRITING & RESEARCH

A wide range of writing, grammar, and research tools and access to a variety of academic journals, census data, Associated Press newsfeeds, and discipline-specific readings help you hone your writing and research skills.

To order this text with MySearchLab® use ISBN 0-205-95551-7

www.mysearchlab.com

ISBN-13: 978-0-205-25947-2
ISBN-10: 0-205-25947-2

www.pearsonhighered.com

PEARSON

ALWAYS LEARNING